

Projekttitle: eManual Alte Geschichte
Modul [optional]:
Autor_in: R.D. Hicks
Lizenz: CC-BY-NC-SA

Diog. Laert. 1.52

Text Übersetzung:

If ye have suffered sadly through your own wickedness, lay not the blame for this upon the gods. For it is you yourselves who gave pledges to your foes and made them great; this is why you bear the brand of slavery. Every one of you treadeth in the footsteps of the fox, yet in the mass ye have little sense. Ye look to the speech and fair words of a flatterer, paying no regard to any practical result.